FrostBite Open History

The FrostBite Open started with 8 friends golfing on the day after Easter. After a few years of religiously scheduling their golf outing on the Monday after Easter, the same 8 friends decided to start a spring scramble golf tournament at their place of employment (Ford Motor Company).

The spring of 1996, according to the farmer's almanac, was going to be unseasonably cold. On the way to the Golf course, the group drove thru a 30 minute snowstorm. Once all 92 golfers arrived, the whiteout subsided; leaving heavy frost on the putting greens. They waited for an hour and a half, until the earth's warmth melted the frost off of the greens.

Finally, the tournament began. Smiling golfers hit the links. At the mid-point of the outing, gale force winds accompanied by freezing rain pummeled these rugged golfers. Some golfers could not finish, claiming their hands and feet were frostbitten. Through these awful, sinister conditions was born the Frostbite Open!
